

ITALIAN ENVOYS POSTPONE LEAVING PARIS; FEELING RUNSHIGH AMONG PEOPLE

Premier Orlando Defines Attitude on Troublesome Dalmatian Question; Hope Among Other Delegates Difficulty May Yet be Smoothed Over; Wilson's Action Criticized.

STEPS TAKEN TO PROTECT AMERICANS IN ITALY

PARIS, April 24.—(Havas.)—Premier Orlando of Italy reiterated this morning that he would leave Paris today, his departure being set for 2 o'clock in the afternoon. He added, however, "we do not break with our allies, but hand over our interests to their hands; trusting that they will loyally fulfill their mission."

PARIS, Wednesday, April 23.—It is understood that France and England, after consultation with President Wilson, will make another effort to draw from the Italians a further declaration as to the situation which has arisen and the hope is still entertained in conference circles that in spite of Premier Orlando's decision to leave Paris a way may be found at the last moment to terminate to the satisfaction of all parties the admittedly grave incident which arose today.

Premier Orlando, in a statement to Italian correspondents tonight, outlined the events of the day. He said that this morning Premier Lloyd George's secretary took to the Italian delegation a note from the council of three which answered the Italian claims and which specified that Fiume was to be a free city and not under the administration of any power.

The delegation then inquired, he said, if this represented President Wilson's opinion and received an affirmative answer. The Italian delegation met at 4.30 o'clock to take up the note, but had hardly begun its consideration before an afternoon newspaper was brought in and the Italians were dumfounded, the premier said, to find Mr. Wilson's note printed there.

The surprise of the Italians was intense, Signor Orlando, continued to learn that a document so vital had been made public in such a manner and at first doubted its authenticity. The doubts were soon removed, however, and the delegation at once deliberated upon the consequences of its publication. After a discussion, which lasted until 6.20 o'clock, the Italians considered it necessary to make known their surprise to France and England, signatories to the London treaty, and addressed a letter to these powers, pointing out the impossibility to participate usefully in the peace conference.

Regret was expressed that Mr. Wilson's statement, which came at the very moment the Italian delegation was making a supreme effort to reach a settlement, had made that effort impossible, the premier concluded.

PARIS, April 24.—Vittorio Orlando, the Italian premier, issued a lengthy statement this morning to President Wilson in which the premier states in so many words that he is compelled to withdraw from the peace conference after President Wilson's action, which is regarded as a departure from diplomatic custom, and leaves the Italian no other course.

King Victor Emmanuel has telegraphed to Premier Orlando commending his action and insisting that there be no recession from the position Italy has taken.

Premier Lloyd George called on President Orlando before the council met this morning. The two statesmen had a long conference, the British premier endeavoring to obtain a change in the Italian position and induce Italy's representatives to remain. There was no indication, however, of the success of this effort.

It was announced at Italian headquarters that Premier Orlando and General Diaz of the Italian delegation would leave Paris this afternoon, Baron Sonnino, the foreign minister, and the others following tomorrow.

At Italian headquarters the announcement was made that the parliament of Italy would meet immediately upon Premier Orlando's return, probably in a day or two. Preliminary instructions have already been telegraphed to Rome.

It was stated in Italian quarters today that should the news become known that Italy would take steps to approach Germany with a view to making a separate peace.

Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George and President Wilson met at the usual hour this forenoon but no outline of the topics under discussion was made public, although the Chinese-Japanese question, reparations and possibly the Italian crisis may have been considered.

The French foreign office today confirmed the report that Premier Orlando's letter yesterday to Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George, instead of announcing a complete rupture, asked whether in view of the circumstances the premiers considered further Italian participation in the conference useful. The British and French premiers, it is stated, will make a joint answer.

PARIS, Wednesday, April 23.—Reuters Limited, learns that the Italian government is taking measures to protect the American embassy at Rome and consulates in all Italian cities in event of demonstrations in that country.

ROME, Wednesday, April 23.—An imposing demonstration occurred here today, paraders traversing the principal thoroughfares and acclaiming Fiume and Dalmatia and cheering for Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino because of their attitude regarding Italy's claim at the Paris peace conference.

The American, British and French embassies and the offices of the Socialist newspaper Avanti were each guarded by 200 soldiers to avoid possible incidents.

CLERK FINED $100 FOR SAYING YANKS SHOULD BE KILLED

Father of 110th Soldier Appears Against Man Making Insulting Remarks About U. S. in War.

Arrested for remarking that Americans had no right to interfere in the war in Europe and that soldiers from this country who fought over there ought to have been killed, Jacob Zabel was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and the payment of a fine of $100 by the mayor at a hearing given at 8.30 o'clock last night.

Zabel was arrested on a warrant issued by the mayor after information against him had been given by Joseph Bowry, who alleges Zabel made the statements to him. Bowry appeared against the defendant at the hearing.

The trouble occurred on Tuesday evening in a North Pittsburgh street store where Zabel had been employed as a clerk. Bowry and he were arguing and it was during the controversy Zabel is said to have made the unpatriotic remarks. Bowry went to Mayor Duggan and reported the matter. The sentence is the maximum permitted.

Bowry has a son, William, in the service. He enlisted here with Company D, 110th Infantry, and was later made company butcher. The prosecutor also had another son, Joseph, at Camp Lee but he has been discharged.

WOMEN RUN DOWN BY MOTORCYCLE AS THEY STEP OFF CAR

Miss Carrie Mae Livingston Painfully Injured in Mishap at Coalbrook Station.

Miss Carrie Mae Livingston and Miss Lola Miller, both of Coalbrook, were injured last evening when run down by a motorcycle just as they stepped from a northbound street car at Coalbrook station.

The driver of the machine, whose name could not be learned, was speeding at the rate of 45 miles an hour and stopped only for a few minutes following the accident. However, the license number of his motorcycle was secured.

Miss Livingston was removed to the Cottage State hospital. While she suffered no broken bones, she is a very sick young woman, according to authorities at the hospital. The extent of her injuries has not as yet been determined. She is suffering greatly from the shock.

Miss Miller received a sprained ankle and injuries to the back. She was removed to her home.

TROPHY TRAIN SATURDAY

Government Exhibit Will Be Stationed on Siding Near Arlington.

The route of the War Trophy train which is being taken through this part of the country to boost the Victory Liberty Loan drive was announced this morning by the Publicity committee. It is scheduled to arrive at 6 o'clock Saturday morning and leave at 10 o'clock. The cars will be stationed on the Pennsylvania siding near the Arlington hotel.

The train will be at Everson Friday afternoon. Leaving Connellsville it will spend the remainder of the day at Greensburg. It will visit Latrobe on the 28th, Scottdale on the 29th and Uniontown on April 30. This train will leave Uniontown and go to West Brownsville on May 1.

RULE REFUSED

Judge Van Swearingen Declines to Order Committee Into Court.

Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen today declined to order the members of the J. V. Thompson creditors' committee to appear in court on April 25 to answer to the master proceedings recently instituted, holding that the defendants must be regularly subpoenaed.

There are seven defendants. Contention of counsel for the committee is that the plaintiffs are unable to make out a case and that the defendants cannot give up their time unless required to do so by due course of law. Judge Van Swearingen fixed April 28 as the date for the hearing but refused the motion to have the defendants ordered to appear.

POSSE CAPTURES THUGS

Negroes Who Snatch Pocketbook in Dunbar Locked Up.

Shortly after they had held up and robbed Mrs. M. J. Marion of a pocketbook containing $50 in front of the Dunbar postoffice at 12.30 o'clock today, two negroes, Howard Norman and Arthur Geter, of Pittsburgh, were captured by a posse of citizens and turned over to Chief of Police R. D. May.

Information was made against them by Mr. May before Burgess Alex Dunbar.

CITY GENERALLY FAVORS CENTRAL FIRE STATION

Talk Heard About Town of Movement to Influence Council to Act.

DR. UTTS' VIEWS UPHELD

Business Interests Especially Are Anxious That Headquarters of the Department Be Shifted from the West Side to Center of the City.

In order to insure the location of the fire department in a central station, citizens of the city may begin a movement to have council take immediate steps for the remodeling of city hall and transfer of the equipment from the present station to that place.

Opinions of many citizens on the matter show that a majority of the business men are in favor of city hall as quarters for the department and all but the upper portion of the street is strong for the transfer of the apparatus from the West Side on account of the danger of a delay in case the truck be held up by a traffic jam at the Pennsylvania crossing while answering an alarm.

The matter was suggested in council by Dr. C. W. Utts but has not yet been acted on. Persons with interests in the business section are especially eager to see the trucks brought to the center of the city and the present municipal building is generally considered an admirable location.

MAY SNOW TONIGHT

Weather Man Predicts Temperature Near Freezing.

According to predictions of the weather man summer is not yet here to stay. In the forecast today rain or snow is scheduled for tonight with a temperature near freezing.

A cold spell at this late date with a freezing temperature would do much damage as much garden truck is already above the ground and trees are in full bloom.

The rain of last night which preceded the cold spell did much to increase the bloom of trees and freshened up the grass. The recent warm weather has brought forth spring wild flowers in abundance.

REBER IN CAMP

Baker of 25th Division Arrives at Camp Devens.

Mrs. W. S. Martin of South Eighth street, Greenwood, received a telegram from the Salvation Army, stating that her son, Herman L. Reber, arrived in the States from France and would be sent to Camp Devens. The young soldier was attached to the Field Bakery 304, 25th Division.

Reber also serves on the Mexican border, leaving Connellsville as a member of Company D. Later he was transferred to the Field Bakery 304 and was in service on the border three months after the arrival home of Company D.

Off to Meet Sons.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Suraw of Dawson are in New York to meet their sons, Clarence, who was expected to arrive today from France with the 15th Engineers. Their son, William, also was expected to reach port.

Recovery is Slow.

Mrs. William Matthews, of Percy, who underwent an operation several weeks ago at the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, is very ill. Her recovery from the operation being very slow.

Weather Forecast

Rain or snow, partly cloudy; temperature near freezing is the noon weather forecast for Western Pennsylvania.

R. M. CUTHBERTSON TO RETIRE FROM BUSINESS IN CITY

Proprietor of E. Dunn Store Will Make Future Home in New York Where He Has Interests.

On account of his extensive business interests in New York City, Ralph M. Cuthbertson, Sr., owner of the E. Dunn store, will retire from business in Connellsville, as will Ralph M. Cuthbertson, Jr., who has been associated in business with his father. The large stock will be disposed of as readily as possible.

Mr. Cuthbertson, Sr., purchased the greater part of the stock of the E. Dunn store, for many years conducted by Captain Edmund Dunn and his son, Harry, five years ago and continued to successfully conduct the business. Harry Dunn for a short time was associated in business with Mr. Cuthbertson but later Mr. Cuthbertson bought out his interest.

During his stay in Connellsville Mr. Cuthbertson made a host of friends who will regret to learn of the departure of him and his family from Connellsville. He expects to locate in New York City where he is engaged in the manufacture of cloaks and suits on a large scale. His son expects to locate in the West where he has business interests.

LIGHTNING PUTS COAL PLANT OUT END OF FIRST DAY

Tipple at Mine Near Alverton Fired by Bolt and Badly Damaged; Idle Since November.

SCOTSDALE, April 24.—When the armistice was signed and the demand for coal slumped F. V. Perry of Scottdale closed his mine at Alverton.

Yesterday morning, following the booking of an order, operations were resumed. Last night an electrical storm, the first of the season, swept the region and today the plant is out of commission, due to lightning.

About 10.30 o'clock a bolt struck the top of the tipple, setting it afire. The Scottdale fire department was summoned and succeeded in saving all but the upper portion of the structure. The machinery there, however, dropped to the bottom. It will be some time before operations can be resumed. The loss was not known, according to the owner.

During the electrical storm last night the home of William Mackley in Everson was struck. Damage to the extent of $500 was done.

The storm was severe over this region, but this was the only damage reported. Rain fell in torrents.

PERRY RALLY TONIGHT

Prominent Red Cross Workers to Attend Branch Meeting.

The Perry branch of the Red Cross will hold a final public meeting tonight at Perryopolis to celebrate the success of the chapter in completing its work and to commemorate the fellowship that has prevailed throughout the war. Among those to be present at the celebration will be J. Fred Krutz, county chairman of the Red Cross; Rev. Cloyd Goodnight, director of the bureau of development; F. W. Wright, director of the bureau of supplies; and W. P. Schenck, executive secretary.

It was announced this morning that Dr. Woods of Pittsburgh, a prominent Red Cross speaker, will deliver an address at the night meeting and it is expected that a large number of people will be present. County Chairman Krutz said the meeting will be more on the order of a love feast than a cold formal gathering and invites anyone in the county to attend.

AUTOMOBILE SKIDS

Scottdale Man, Driving Hit, at Cottage Hospital as Result.

John Loepzbier, 32 years old, of Scottdale, is in the Cottage State hospital for treatment of a compound fracture of the nose and head injuries, suffered in an automobile accident which occurred last night at the "S" curve on the state road near Vanderburgh.

According to Loepzbier the car skidded when the brakes refused to work. Two women were in the car but neither was seriously injured. The machine was badly damaged. Loepzbier's condition is not serious.

PULLMAN SERVICE AGAIN

Pennsylvania Will Restore Car Taken Off During the War.

R. E. Wilhelm, agent for the Pennsylvania railroad here, announced this morning that the Pullman service on Pennsylvania trains 7100 and 7105, which had been discontinued on account of the war, would be resumed next Sunday. The Pullman was formerly on the train which leaves here for Pittsburgh at 7.28 o'clock in the morning and which leaves for Uniontown at 6.52 o'clock in the evening.

This change will be welcomed by the many patrons of the Pennsylvania who travel to and from Pittsburgh regularly.

Mayor in Pittsburgh.

There was no police court this morning, the mayor being out of the city.

CONNELLVILLE DISTRICT JUMPS TO $313,600 IN ITS DRIVE; ASHE STILL LEADS

UNIONTOWN MAN PUTS $150,000 IN VICTORY LOAN

Subscription of E. S. Hackney Largest Received in Any Liberty Drive.

Former Record $130,000

That Was Held by M. M. Cochran of Uniontown; Hackney Turns Over Check for Full Amount of Subscription; Trophy Train Saturday.

Subscription for $150,000 to the Victory Liberty Loan by E. S. Hackney of Uniontown was announced this morning by Vice Chairman W. Russell Carr. The subscription represents the largest individual purchase of Liberty bonds in Fayette county not only in the present Victory drive but also in all previous Liberty Loan campaigns. The honor of being the largest individual Liberty Loan subscriber was formerly held by M. M. Cochran. Mr. Cochran invested $120,000 in the Fourth Liberty Loan issue.

Mr. Hackney's check for $150,000, drawn upon the National Bank of Fayette county, was delivered to Mr. Carr following an extended conference between Mr. Hackney and Mr. Carr. At that conference Mr. Carr explained in detail the tax exemption features of the Victory Liberty notes. These features appealed so strongly to Mr. Hackney that he forthwith wrote a check for $150,000 to Mr. Carr's order and made application for the largest block of Liberty bonds ever sold in Fayette county in a single transaction to an individual.

Since the first offering of government war securities during the First Liberty Loan campaign, Mr. Hackney has been a heavy investor in what he thinks is "the safest investment in the world."

Tax exemption features of the Victory Loan are now being incorporated by Mr. Carr into a concise statement explaining them in detail. That statement will be issued shortly for the benefit of other Fayette county's wealthy men who have not yet decided how heavily they will invest in Victory notes.

With the receipt by the county loan committee of the German business assigned Fayette county by the War Department, the various competitions worked out by the loan committee to accelerate the campaign will at once take a prominent place in the drive as workers view the prizes from display windows. The assignment of helmets arrived yesterday at county headquarters and are today being uncrated. The samples of Hun headgear are in many styles of workmanlike and their purely commercial value is much augmented by their value as war relics. The helmet competitions from this time on promise to develop intense interest.

Solicitors in each district are entitled to two helmets, one to be awarded the solicitor securing the greatest number of subscriptions and the other to the worker selling the largest volume of Victory notes. Chairman making the best showing will also be given helmets and the first ten team captains reporting headquarters subscriptions upon 50 per cent of their prospect cards will also be given helmets. The first three districts over the top will be given helmets to be placed permanently in some building in the district. Five will be awarded to industrial teams making the best canvasses of their territory for the sake of regular school children throughout the county are now actively engaged in a contest to win a helmet for their building.

Commencing Saturday the War Trophy trains will strike Fayette county on their swing around the Fourth Federal Reserve district. One train will arrive Saturday morning at 6 o'clock at Connellsville and remain until 10.30 o'clock. On Wednesday, April 30, another trophy train will arrive in Uniontown and will exhibit from 7 to 11 o'clock at the Church street siding. The following day the same train will stop at Point Marion and Brownsville, making the Point Marion stop Thursday morning and Brownsville Thursday afternoon.

At the night meeting and it is expected that a large number of people will be present. County Chairman Krutz said the meeting will be more on the order of a love feast than a cold formal gathering and invites anyone in the county to attend.

NOON REPORTS BOOST FIGURES OF YESTERDAY WHICH TOTALLED $193,600.

JUDGE REPERT A GUEST

Uniontown Jurist Attends the Noon Luncheon at Masonic Temple; E. C. Higbee Speaker for the Day; Father Gleason Talks Tomorrow.

At the most enthusiastic noon lunch meeting held this week, Connellsville canvassing teams reported total subscriptions of $313,600. The number of subscriptions reached 1,641.

Guests at the dinner today were Judge E. H. Reppert, District Attorney S. John Morrow, Attorney D. W. McDonald and Attorney E. C. Higbee. Each man spoke a few words to the teams and congratulated them on their efforts.

Judge Reppert, who made the first address, said it was a very great pleasure for him to be able to come once again to share the devotion, spirit of enthusiasm and splendid manifestation of cooperation that has distinguished Connellsville in all of its war fund drives and which has brought such a large measure of success to the city.

"It seems to me," he said, "that this loan is properly named a Victory Loan. I would just add one word. It is a loan of thanksgiving to the Almighty God for His goodness to us and I say it in all reverence. Uncle Sam is only going the Lord's security."

D. W. McDonald, who was county campaign manager of the recent War Chest drive, thanked

ENFORCEMENT BILL

Would Permit Manufacture and Sale of So-called "Non-Intoxicants."

HARRISBURG, April 24—Representative Ramsey of Delaware county introduced a bill in the House yesterday designed to enforce the prohibition amendment. Defining intoxicating liquors as those which contain more than 2% per cent of alcohol by weight, the bill makes lawful the manufacture, transportation, importation and exportation of such liquors or beverages, and prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation in, into or out of the state of any "intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes." The penalty provided for violation is $500 fine or a year's imprisonment. The bill would permit the present license feature of the Brooks law to stand permitting the liquor business to exist as at present, both as to brewers, wholesale and retail dealers.

The bill defining and regulating boxing, which was introduced by Senator Crow at the request of boxing supporters, passed second reading yesterday.

M. E. PLANS OUTLINED

Large Sums Already Received Upon For War-Stricken Countries.

PITTSBURG, April 24—Reconstruction plans for war-stricken countries of Europe, calling for the expenditure of $52,000,000, were outlined this afternoon before 130 laymen and 70 ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church of the Pittsburg district. Bishop Theodore S. Henderson and Chaplain Thomas Tip-lady, the latter known as the most popular chaplain in the British army, were the guests of the laymen. At a luncheon in the William Penn hotel at which they told of their survey of the needs of Europe and the program of the Methodist centenary movement for reconstruction. Bishop Henderson is executive secretary of the department of war emergency and reconstruction of the centenary movement and has just returned from an extensive survey of France, Italy and Belgium.

Bishop Henderson gave the following costs of centenary reconstruction projects already decided upon for war-stricken countries: Italy $993,850; France, $684,900; North Africa, $110,000; Spain, $76,700; Balkans, $254,500; Belgium, $50,000; Finland, $56,100; Russia $239,700, a total of $2,505,750. This program probably will be amplified as a result of further surveys and extensions of the work.

ROBBED OF BIG SUM

William Collins Tells Police He Was Thrown Over a Bridge.

Found wandering about on the South Side in the vicinity of Green street, last night William Collins was picked up by the police. He was released this morning and allowed to go to the home of his sister. He says he was robbed of $180 and his watch and thrown over a bridge. Collins does not remember distinctly just where the bridge was or where the robbery occurred but when found by the police his clothes were wet. The officers thought he must have been waiting in a creek until they heard his story. He was dirty and his hat was lost.

Collins was in East Green street when found at 1 25 o'clock this morning. His sister lives in the north end of the city.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits over time.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork. By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest, excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidity, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to a blood that is not strong.

People with plenty of red blood are cheerful and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind, vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery, to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance, to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the steady is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before, if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, enervated men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

COMMERCE CHAMBER AT SCOTSDALE IS TO BE REORGANIZED

Movement Started Among Business Men Expected to Bring Results.

INITIAL MOVE WITHIN WEEK

Fourteenth Anniversary of Pottsville
Boy Observed at Party Given by Parents; Miss Edith Irwin Entertains for Guest From Missouri.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, April 24.—Scottsdale is to have a chamber of commerce again. The organization will likely be effected within the next week. Scottsdale has had several such organizations. All have died natural deaths. The business men backing the reorganization believe the town needs a body of this kind. It was stated yesterday by one of the men interested that they meant to push the organization and get busy and get anything that can be gotten for Scottsdale.

Fourteenth Anniversary.
The 14th birthday of Wilmer Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wright, was nicely celebrated at their Pottsville home on Sunday, when 49 of his school friends gathered at his home to help him celebrate the event. Games and other amusements were indulged in and at 5 o'clock a fine lunch was served which the children all enjoyed. Wilmer received some very nice presents and the day will long be remembered by all present.

Bridge Party for Guest.
Miss Edith Irwin gave a bridge party at the home of Mrs. Arthur Loucks Tuesday afternoon in honor of her house guest, Miss Lavin Layton of Joplin, Mo. Several tables were run. Refreshments were served.

Will Compete for Cup.
Plans are now going forward to open the Junior Public School Athletic league to fight for the Review cup won last year by the Everest Juniors. It is expected that at least six teams will be entered in this race this season and some very good baseball games are anticipated.

Tenacious Literary Society.
The 10th meeting of the Tenacious Literary society was held in study hall Friday afternoon, April 18. President Edridge Silsley was in the chair. The president appointed Earl Gore and Melburn Trout on the arrangements committee and Edna Hayes and Charles Black as a program committee. The following program was rendered: Music, "On the Sea," Seventh grade; "Roving Song," Eighth grade; continued story, "Chandler and the Fog," Pauline Haines; synopsis story, "Mr. Silver's Horse," Leonard Goldsman; talking machine, George Sherrick; composition, "A Boy's Experience in the Kitchen," Thelma Paul; society paper, Louise Porter. The society was honored by the presence of two visitors, Miss Harriet Sparks and Miss Ella Sivits of Connelville.

The Keister Society.
The 10th meeting of the Keister Literary society was held in study hall Monday afternoon. President J. W. Brooks was in the chair. The president appointed on the program committee Margaret Zimmerman and Gilbert Mauk; on the arrangements committee, Philip McWilliams and H. R. Hurst. The following program was rendered: Music, "On the Sea," Seventh grade; "Anvil Chorus," Eighth grade; continued story, "Madame Roland and the French Revolution," Benjamin Trump; synopsis story, "Miraculous Pitcher," Dorothy Miller; talking machine, Gilbert Mauk; composition, "Pa's Fractions," Gladys Cramer; society paper, Paul Coffman.

Personal.
Mrs. Jacob Swartzendruber is very ill with pneumonia at her home here. J. I. Murphy has returned from a week's business trip to New York City.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"GOOD NIGHT PAUL"—Constance Talmadge's latest Select picture is today's feature attraction. The story hinges about the attempt of Matilda Landers (Constance Talmadge) to help her husband and his partner out of financial difficulties by proclaiming herself the partner's wife when his uncle arrives to give him $50,000, if he has married to perpetuate the family name. Uncle decides to stay for a month, so Matilda has a triple job on hand: keeping uncle in the dark, keeping the partner amiable for he is a confirmed misogynist and keeping "bubby" himself tractable under the trying circumstances. Matilda succeeds, of course, and finally every one is paired off satisfactorily and the couple magnanimously forgiven; but the working out of the plot makes "Good Night Paul" a veritable bonanza of laughter. In the closing reel the uncle finds a helpmate, and even Paul is paired off with a charming nurse, while Matilda makes a complete confession and returns to the arms of her "lawful wedded husband." Every performance of the production was witnessed yesterday by large audiences. The picture is one that will please all members of the family. Monday Viola Dana, the charming Metro star, will appear in "Satan, Jr."

BRYANT WASHBURN

THE SOISSON.

"HITTING THE TRAIL"—A mighty pleasing picture, starring Carlisle Blackwell and Evelyn Greely, is being shown today. It is the sort of picture that pleases everyone and offends none, for it is jammed and packed with intense interest, excitement, thrills and sentiments. The story is a modern one and concerns the adventures and love affair of Flo Haines and Kid Kelly. A number of the scenes in this production were filmed on the East Side in the vicinity of Chinatown. In fact some of them were taken in the old Chinese theater on the East Side, which is now being used as a mission. These scenes are of great interest. Flo works in a flower factory where she is pursued by Joe Carrell, the owner. She engineers a strike in the factory and Kelly takes a prominent part in the proceedings. The affair ends happily for both Flo and the Kid. It goes at a top speed from the start to finish, and there is always something doing during the course of the production. An interesting comedy is also being shown.

THE ARCADE.

HANDICAPPED KING IN PICTURES—Houdini, the mystery man, will appear in "The Master Mystery" at the Arcade theatre. This is Houdini's first appearance on the screen, and it is stated that the startling melodrama gives Houdini an opportunity to do all stunts and tricks of self-liberation before the camera. It will be remembered that Houdini has succeeded in liberating himself from all the important jails of the country, and his fame is worldwide because of the fact that no human being up to the present has been able to construct a pair of handcuffs or bind him in a way that he cannot escape. Houdini's popularity as a vaudeville performer is undoubtedly going to follow him to pictures, as it is stated on good authority that the silent drama gives him an opportunity to improve on his mysterious performances. He will appear every Friday and Saturday, including this Friday, as a Metro attraction will also be the House of Hate No. 20.

SALVATION ARMY WORKERS WITH THE "FARTHEST FRONT"

General Pershing Cables Appreciation and Good Wishes For Campaign.

RENDERED FINE SERVICE

Men and Women of Organization Have Endured Themselves to the Officers and Men of the Expeditionary Forces, Commander Declares

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Salvation Army workers were among those who went "farthest front" with the American doughboys during the fighting in France, according to a message of appreciation received here today from General Pershing. The cable from the commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Forces was received by former Lieutenant Governor Frank B. McClain, chairman of the Pennsylvania committee for the campaign by which, in the week of May 19-26, the Salvationists will seek to obtain funds sorely needed for the continuance of their relief work among the poor and unemployed at home. General Pershing found time yesterday to cable especially in their behalf.

"I wish," ran his message, "to express my sincere appreciation and that of all members of the American Expeditionary Forces for the splendid service rendered by the Salvation Army to the American Army in France. Outstanding features of the work of the Salvation Army have been its disposition to push its activities as far as possible to the front and the experienced character of its workers. It has endeared your organization and its individual men and women workers to all those divisions and other units to which they have been attached. It has spread their good name to every part of the American Expeditionary Force. Please accept this as a personal message to each of your workers."

SERVES A USEFUL PURPOSE

Writer Comments Entertainingly of What He Calls "This Me of Mine."

First, it's very individual, this Me of mine. It eats, it walks, it plays, it works, it sleeps. Also, it plans and thinks and dreams and loves.

This Me of mine gets lonely, too, even in the midst of work. It looks around itself and marvels at time and space and things, and grows into a warm ecstatic mood at the feel of life and all its tasks.

I like this Me of mine, because it is understandable. Good and bad, both. But honestly abreast. For true things are passing by at every hour of every day.

I talk to this Me of mine. And it talks to me. And the world of action all around stirs the blood in this Me of mine. For it is wakeful and alert.

I run errands for this Me of mine. I risk, I work, I sorrow, I sympathize for this Me of mine.

This Me of mine, this outside one, this everywhere one—this Me of mine—it's all that I may keep and call my own. But I shall stick, with loyal pride, and gladly strive to make better, to yield stronger, the brain, the heart and the soul of this Me of mine.

So that to serve may prove the end of all that there is to this Me of mine.—Frogs Good Housekeeping.

Wonderful Slot Machine. Most people are familiar with the machines which still chocolate and chewing gum. An interesting development in this field is a large apparatus that dispenses bottled beverages, sandwiches and chewing gum. Its cooling chamber has space for the accommodation of 90 bottles, while a precooling compartment, in which bottles are chilled by immersion in the water that drains from the ice, has an equal capacity. In order to encourage patrons to return empty bottles to the machine a stick of gum is discharged when a bottle is placed in the receptacle provided for it. A counter-reel detector rejects spurious coins. A complete record of all transactions is kept by a sales-registering mechanism. The only attention the machine requires is that involved in stocking and icing it.

A Little Learning. "Do you subscribe to the theory that a little learning is a dangerous thing?" "Yes," replied Gadagur. "I thought I knew enough about my automobile to take it apart and put it together again, but this bill of $15.17 from a repair shop proves that I didn't."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Business Unless Completely Satisfies All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered—for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what may be called marvelous success. For years of urging he decided to suffer everywhere where he knew the discovery through the newspapers. Connelville Drug Co. can supply you.

Creator of Firebrand Treason Writes New Serial for This Paper

An up-American orator is knocked off a soap-box, bare knuckles gleam in the light of a rising moon in a little eastern town and then—

And then you are engrossed in the new serial which this newspaper has obtained from the pen of Charles Alden Seltzer, author of some of the best American novels of the last decade. The new story is "The Man With a Country."

Seltzer does not depend for his setting in this tale upon the expansive plains of the west.

Factory smoke takes the place of alkali dust and the hum of industry supplants the howl of the coyote. But the characters Seltzer depicts are just as truly American as the old favorites, Jefferson Gawn and Firebrand Trevison.

Seltzer's popularity as a writer of American fiction had its inception with the publication of "The Two Gun Man." It increased rapidly as others of his works were produced—"The Range Riders," "Triangle Cupid," "The Trail to Yesterday," "The Eyes of the Lazy Y" and on down to "Firebrand Trevison." Then the list of his admirers was made endless when such motion picture stars as William S. Hart, Tom Mix, Bert Lytell, Jack Gordon and Roy Stewart began purchasing the rights to depict his stories in the films.

JUDGE WAS ON RIGHT TRACK

New Englander a Pioneer in Scheme of Conserving Water for Use in Summer Months.

Present-day interest in the development of water power has recalled a modest, old-fashioned episode in the history of New England when, some time in the forties, Judge Nathan Crosby drove round Lake Winnepesaukee in his carriage and made rough calculations of the effect upon local agricultural land if the lake level were raised a few feet. Out of that carriage ride grew a plan by which Lakes Winnepesaukee, Squam, Newfound and others have since been used as storage basins, conserving water for the summer months, and thus becoming modest pioneers of the more impressive plants for water utilization that will doubtless be a feature of the United States in the not distant future. Judge Crosby, however, may have had no more idea of the transmission of water power in the form of electricity than his buggy had of becoming an automobile.—Christian Science Monitor.

Not many people are aware that elephants are "right-handed" and "left-handed" in using their tusks, and that an examination of the tusks of any particular elephant will reveal the class to which the elephant belongs. An elephant user only one tusk most of the time it is digging for salt earth, uprooting trees or tearing up roots, says a contributor to an English magazine. When its working tusk becomes badly broken it turns to the other, just as a man who has injured his right hand takes to his left. The tusk must very severely damaged before it will give up using it in preference to the other.

The working tusk becomes worn and smooth toward the end—so much more, in fact, that it is often appreciably shorter than the other, and frequently the tip has been broken off. After that has happened the jagged edge becomes gradually worn smooth, and in the course of years pointed again, but the working tusk is always blunter than the other.

Presidential Succession

Members of the cabinet are in line to the succession, if they can comply with the Constitutional requirements which provide that: "No person except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president." What is called the presidential act, passed in 1838, provides for cabinet officers in the following order: Secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of war, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior, secretary of agriculture, secretary of commerce, secretary of labor. A person not born in this country may be a member of the president's cabinet, but he is not eligible to the presidency, being barred by the Constitutional provision quoted above.

Candle Auction

The candle has been used for many purposes. In the seventeenth century a candle auction was the regular method of selling wares at the mart of the East India company—a custom which is still in vogue in various parts of the country, notably at Tatworth, near Chard, in Somerset, where the letting of land is annually conducted by this novel method. The thirty or forty people having rights in the land assemble and bid, and it is "knocked down" to the last bidder as the inch of candle flickers out. In three successive years the candle burned for 33½, 27 and 39½ minutes.—London Times.

M. & W. EXTENSION IS IN PROSPECT IN STATE OF GREENE

Will Reach Waynesburg By New Construction From Present Terminals.

FULL RIGHTS ACQUIRED

Through Taking Over the Holdings of the Electric Line Between Waynesburg and Blacksville, the Grading of Which Is Almost Completed.

According to an announcement made at Waynesburg arrangements have been completed for the extension of the Morgantown & Wheeling railroad from its present terminals in the southern edge of Greene county to Waynesburg.

Articles of association for the company in this state have been filed with the secretary of the commonwealth at Harrisburg, and an application made to the Public Service Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity.

The people interested in the Morgantown & Wheeling railroad have acquired a controlling interest in the Waynesburg & Blacksville street railway and it is their intention to begin immediately rebuilding the grade and putting it in condition on which to lay the necessary tracks to afford the Morgantown & Wheeling railroad an entrance into Waynesburg.

The Morgantown & Wheeling railroad of West Virginia has some time since been completed from Morgantown to Braine, in the southern part of Greene county, and is now in operation to that point. Considerable improvement work to the road bed will be made during the coming spring and summer and plans are under way for new engines and rolling stock.

An office has been opened in Waynesburg, which will be in charge of Assistant General Manager A. J. Bartlett, who will supervise the work of construction.

The extension of the Morgantown & Wheeling railroad from Blacksville, W. Va. to Braine, Pa., was made necessary by the location here of the large pumping station of the Peoples Natural Gas company, said to be the largest natural gas pumping station in the world. An extraordinary development of the coal territory along the line of the Morgantown & Wheeling railroad between Cassville and Randall, the latter being the point where the Morgantown & Wheeling connects with the Monongahela railroad, has resulted in the opening up of more than 20 coal mines, most of them equipped with electric power and capable of producing at this time from 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons of coal annually.

The building of the road would undoubtedly lead to the development of the coal fields in the southern section of the county. Other railroad construction in the county would also be stimulated. The Pennsylvania lines would most likely be extended to Waynesburg and work would be hastened on the proposed line from Waynesburg to Wheeling.

The building of a standard gauge railroad from Blacksville to Waynesburg could be accomplished in less time and with much less work than the construction of the same number of miles of road in any other part of the county, inasmuch as the proposed route was graded and a number of bridge abutments built by the Waynesburg & Blacksville Street Railway company several years ago. Although this work was done with the idea of building an electric line, the road bed is such that a steam road could be built with but little extra grading.

SYSTEMATIC RUIN WROUGHT BY HUNS IN NORTHERN FRANCE

Greatest Atrocity Ever Perpetrated Against the Industrial Life of Any Country, Says Engineer.

Destruction wrought by the Germans in Northern France was so "systematic and diabolical" that it will require five years to rehabilitate the coal, iron and steel industry, and from 12 to 15 years to return the mines and mills to normal output, according to a preliminary report made by Frank H. Probert, consulting engineer of the Bureau of Mines. He is a member of a special investigating committee, which recently returned from Europe.

Despite the tremendous damage, Mr. Probert expressed confidence that the "indomitable spirit" of France and the return of Alsace and Lorraine to the mother land would soon make the Nation the dominant factor in the European steel industry.

The actual physical damage to the iron mines is comparatively small when compared to the destruction of the coal fields of Northern France, which is as reprehensible as it is complete, Mr. Probert said. "In my opinion, no such atrocity was ever perpetrated against the industrial life of any country."

"Magnificent steel plants, comparing favorably with anything we have in the United States, are now but a tangled, twisted mass of structural steel and broken stone. The wilful demolition was scientifically planned and systematically carried out. This, after the removal of all such mechanical and electrical power units as could be used by Germany. The maliciousness and efficiency with which this crime against French industry was carried out is almost unbelievable."

More Money for Railroads. Advances to the railroads totalling $164,897,490 had been made by the War Finance Corporation up to April 10. The figures include $50,000,000 advanced to Walker D. Hines as director general of railroads.

Eddie Grant Silenced Rough Rooting, Texas

Mike Doplin, former big leaguer, tells the following anecdote of Eddie Grant, killed in action in France:

"I never think of Grant but I recall a game down in Texas, where Eddie silenced a crowd of rough rooters who were 'hiding' him. I took a scrub team of Giants from Marlin up to Waco one spring and we were having a tough time with the Texas leaguers. Grant was playing third base and the crowd was 'on him' good and proper.

"Finally, one weather-bent fan yelled: 'Say, Yank, what's your name anyhow?' 'My name?' replied Eddie, 'why you ought to know it well. It's Grant. You ought to remember my grandfather well. He was down in this country 50 years ago and never lost a game.'"

"I thought those Texans would rush us and break up the game, but Eddie pulled his lines so good naturally that they laughed and after that they laid off him."

Alfred A. Knoff, the Russian authority, said in his New York office: "It's no use being pessimistic about Russia. Russia has simply got to go through these throes of hers in order to become sane and healthy. They're the throes of sickness, and to turn away from them with pessimistic horror and disgust is to be as unreasonable as the little schoolboy."

The MAN with a COUNTRY

That is the title of the latest work of Charles Alden Seltzer, author of "Firebrand Trevison," "The Trail to Yesterday," "The Range Riders," "The Vengeance of Jefferson Gawn."

Seltzer is pronounced by the leading literary critics of the country one of the best delineators of the characters of men of the western plains.

Carter Corwin in "The Man With a Country," has a thrilling battle with himself.

There is love in it too. It is staged in a small town in the east and proves that there is just as touching romance in factory smoke as there is in alkali dust.

FAMOUS PEACE TREATIES

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

TREATY OF AIX-LE-CHAPPELLE, 1748.

The Peace Treaty Following a War Started by Frederick of Prussia to Get Himself Talked About.

On October 18, 1748, there was signed at Aix-la-Chapelle a treaty of peace negotiated by the wisest statesmen of Europe—a treaty that put an end to the War of the Austrian Succession, which had been going on for eight years. This war over the question as to who should succeed to the Austrian throne not only disturbed Europe but its neighbors, flung across the Atlantic, lit the torch of war in America, kept the British colonies in a state of unrest and burdened them with an expenditure of money and lives. Before the death of the Emperor Charles VI of Austria he prepared the "Pragmatic Sanction" providing that the dominions of his branch of the house of Hapsburg should pass to his daughter, Maria Theresa. The nations of continental Europe agreed to it, but no sooner did Charles die than the Pragmatic Sanction became "a scrap of paper" and various claimants to the Austrian throne arose.

While the others talked, Frederick of Prussia acted. He had ascended the throne that year. On December 23 he left a massive hall, started by post for the Austrian frontier, where he had secretly massed 30,000 men, and without any preliminaries or any declaration of war invaded the Austrian province of Silesia, cynically remarking, "Let us make the war first—plenty of reason for it can be found afterwards." On another occasion, referring to this act, he said: "I did it to get myself talked about."

A True Hohenzollern. There were but 3,000 Austrian troops in Silesia when Frederick struck and, though reinforcements were hurried up by the end of January the Prussians were masters of the province. France, Bavaria, Spain, Sardinia, etc., at once joined in to despoil the young queen before Prussia should get all the best of the "pickings." Driven from her capital, Maria Theresa sought refuge among the Hungarians, who received her loyally, raised an army and began the struggle. In June, 1742, Frederick coolly abandoned his allies upon receiving the cession of the greater part of Silesia. Two years later he was fighting Austria again and got the rest of Silesia.

England became an ally of Austria in 1742, but it was not until 1744 that Louis XV formally declared war against that country, not as an ally of Austria but in his own name and on behalf of France. A French army sent into the heart of the Hapsburg domain, and consisting of 100,000 men, was so badly handled that, when forced back to Bavaria in 1743, it could muster but 35,000. The French met with reverses in Italy, but gained the battles of Fontenoy (where the Irish brigade distinguished itself), of Rancour and Lawfield.

The news that France and England were at war was first made known to America through the descent of a body of French from Cape Breton upon Canso, where the English garrison was surprised and taken prisoner. The most important event of the war on this side of the water was the capture of the immensely strong position of Louisbourg, on Cape Breton Island, by a colonial army under General Pepperell of Maine, assisted by a British fleet. Williamstown, Mass., was taken by a body of French and Indians and Saratoga was ravaged.

Alliance between Russia and Austria. An alliance between Russia and Austria hastened a desire for peace, and in April of 1748 delegates met at Aix-la-Chapelle and signed preliminary treaties. On October 18 a definitive treaty was concluded.

Everything in Europe was put back as it was before the war except that post for the Austrian frontier, where he had secretly massed 30,000 men, and without any preliminaries or any declaration of war invaded the Austrian province of Silesia, cynically remarking, "Let us make the war first—plenty of reason for it can be found afterwards." "Didn't you like it, dear?" "Not much. Mostly there were just heads of people cut off."

"But there must have been some pictures of animals and trees and lovely country."

"Oh, a few, but," in disgust, "there were more of people doing things they shouldn't."

"Yes. A lot of them had taken off all their clothes, even their under suits.—Indianapolis News."

He Got It. "What became of that boy who said that he wanted a place where he would have a chance to rise?" "He found it; he got a job in a powder mill."

PRINCE OF GRAUSTARK," ETC.

He found a letter in his box when he was downstairs after stalling the tin, a deep into his pocket. Before he left the envelope he knew that Sprague was the writer. The message was brief:

"After due consideration, I feel that it would be a mistake for you to abandon your present duties at this time. It might be misunderstood. Stick to the company until something better turns up. With this thought in view I withdraw the two days' limit mentioned recently to you, and extend the time to one week. Yours very truly,
"H. WILSON."

"God, the fellow thinks of everything," said Barnes to himself. "He is positively uncanny."

He read between the lines, and saw there a distinct warning. It had not occurred to him that his plan to leave for New York that day with Miss Cameron might be attended by disastrous results.

But the jewels? What of them? He could not go gallivanting about the country with a half million dollars' worth of precious stones in his possession.

He spent the early part of the forenoon in wandering nervously about the hotel—upstairs and down. The jewels were locked in his pack upstairs. He went up to his room half a dozen times and almost instantly walked down again, after satisfying himself that the pack had not been rifled.

For the next three days and nights rehearsals were in full swing, with scarcely a moment's let-up. And so the time crept by, up to the night of the performance. Miss Cameron remained in ignorance of the close proximity of the jewels, and the police of Crowdsdale remained in even denser ignorance as to the whereabouts of the man who robbed Mr. Haselwein of all his spare cash and an excellent gold watch.

No time was lost by the counters in getting word to her conspirators in New York. Barnes posted a dozen letters for her, each containing the tidings of her safety and the assurance that she would soon follow in person. These three days and nights were full of joy and excitement for Barnes. He actually deceived himself by wishing that the Rushcroft company might find it imperative to go on rehearsing for weeks in that dim, enchanted temple.

He sat for hours in one of the most uncomfortable seats he had ever known, devouring with hungry eyes the shadowy, interested face so close to his own, and never tired. On the afternoon of the case rehearsal he led her, after an hour of almost insupportable repression, to the rear of the auditorium. Dropping into the seat beside her he blurted out, almost in anguish:

"I can't stand it any longer. I can't be near you without—why, I—I—well, it is more than I can struggle against, that's all. You've either got to send me away altogether or—let me love you without restraint. I tell you I can't go on as I am now. You know I love you, don't you? You know I worship you. Don't be frightened. I just had to tell you today. I should have gone mad if I had tried to keep it up any longer. He waited breathlessly for her to speak. She sat silent and rigid, looking straight before her. "Is it hopeless?" he went on at last, huskily. "Must I ask your forgiveness for my presumption and—go away from you?"

She turned to him and laid her hand upon his arm like other women? Why should I forgive you for loving me? Doesn't every woman want to be loved? No, my friend! Wait! A moment ago I was so weak and trembling that I thought I—oh, I was afraid for myself. Now I am quite calm and sensible. See how well I have myself in hand? I do not tremble, I am strong. We may now discuss ourselves calmly, sensibly. Oh! What are you doing? "I too am strong," he whispered. "I am sure of my ground now, and I am not afraid."

He had clasped the hand that rested on his sleeve and, as he pressed it to his heart, his other arm stole over her shoulders and drew her close to his triumphant body. For an instant she resisted, and then relaxed into complete submission. Her head sank upon his shoulder.

"Oh!" she sighed, and there was wonder, joy—even perplexity, in the tremulous sign of capitulation. "Oh," came softly from her parted lips again at the end of the first long, passionate kiss.

CHAPTER XXI.

The End in Sight.

Barnes, soaring beyond all previous heights of exaltation, ranged dizzily between "front" and "back" at the Grand opera house that evening. He was in the "wings" with her, whispering in her delighted ear; in the dressing-room, listening to her soft words of encouragement to the excited leading lady; on the narrow stairs leading up to the stage, assisting her to mount; and all the time he was dreading the moment when he would awake and find it all a dream.

There was an annoying fly in his oatmeal, however. "I love you," she had said simply. "I want more than your wife. But I cannot promise now. I must have time to think, time to—"

"Why should you require more time than I?" he persisted. "What is time to us? Why make waste of it?"

"I know that I cannot find happiness except with you," she replied. "No matter what happens to me, I shall always love you. I shall never forget the joy of this. But—I cannot promise now," she finished gently and kissed him.

Between the second and third acts Tommy Gray rushed back with the box-office statement. The gross was $5800. The instant that fact became known to Mr. Rushcroft he informed Barnes that they had a "knockout," a gold mine, and that never in all his career had he known a season to start off so auspiciously as this one.

Three days later Barnes and "Miss Jones" said farewell to the strollers and boarded a day train for New York city. They left the company in a condition of prosperity. The show was averaging two hundred dollars nightly, and Mr. Rushcroft was already booking return engagements for the early fall. He was looking forward to a tour of Europe at the close of the war. Barnes' sister, Mrs. Courtney, met them at the Grand Central terminal.

"It's now a quarter of five," said Barnes after the greeting and presentation. "Drop me at the Fifth Avenue bank, Edith. I want to leave something in my safety box, downstairs. She'll be more than five minutes."

He got down from the automobile at Forty-fourth street and shot across the sidewalk into the bank, casting quick, apprehensive glances through the five o'clock crowd on the avenue as he sprinted. In his hand he lugged the heavy, weatherbeaten pack. His sister and the countess stared after him in amazement.

Presently he emerged from the bank, still carrying the bag. He was bearing a certain worried, haggard expression had vanished from his face, and for the first time in eight hours he treated his traveling wardrobe with scorn and indifference.

"Thank God, they're off my mind at last," he cried. "That is the first good, long breath I've had in a week. No, not now. It's a long story and I can't tell it in Fifth Avenue. It would be extremely annoying to have both of you die of heart failure with all these people looking on."

He felt her hand on his arm, and knew that she was looking at him with wide, incredulous eyes, but he faced straight ahead. He was terribly afraid that the girl beside him was preparing to shed tears of joy and relief. He could feel her searching in her jacket pocket for a handkerchief.

Mrs. Courtney was not only curious but apprehensive. She hadn't the faintest idea who Miss Cameron was, nor where her brother had picked her up. But she saw at a glance that she was lovely, and her soul was filled with strange misgivings. She was like all sisters who have pet bachelors.

She had gone and made a fool of himself. The few minutes' conversation she had with the stranger only served to increase her alarm. Miss Cameron's voice and smile—and her eyes!—were positively alarming.

She had had a night letter from Tom that morning in which she said that he was bringing a young lady friend down from the north and would see meet them at the station and put her up for a couple of days? That was all she knew of the dazzling stranger up to the moment she saw her. Immediately after that she knew by intuition a great deal more about her than Tom could have told in volumes of correspondence. She knew, also, that Tom was lost forever!

"Now tell me," said the countess the instant they entered the Courtney apartment. She gripped both of his arms with her firm little hands and looked straight into his eyes, eagerly, hopefully. She had forgotten Mrs. Courtney's presence, she had not taken the time to remove her hat or jacket.

"Let's all sit down," said he. "My knees are unaccountably weak. Come along, Edie. Listen to the romance of my life."

And when the story was finished the countess took his hand in hers and held it to her cool cheek. The tears were still drowning her eyes.

said peevishly. "If I had known who she is I wouldn't have put her in that room. Now I shall have to move Aunt Kate back into it tomorrow and give Miss Cameron the big one at the end of the hall," which goes to prove that Tom's state was a bit of a mess to her. "Stop walking like that and come here." She faced him, appealingly. "Have you told all there is to tell, sir?"

"Can't you see for yourself, Edie, that I'm in love with her? Desperate, horribly, madly in love with her. Don't giggle like that! I couldn't have told you while she was present, could I?"

"What isn't what I want to know. Is she in love with you? That's what I'm after."

"Yes," said he, but frowned anxiously. "She is perfectly adorable," said she, and was at once aware of a guilty, nagging impression that she would not have said it to him half an hour earlier for anything in the world.

She was strangely white and subdued when she rejoined them later on. She had removed her hat. The other women, saw nothing but the wealth of sun-kissed hair that rippled. Barnes went forward to meet her, filled with a sudden apprehension.

"What is it? You are pale and—what have you heard?" She stopped and looked searchingly into his eyes. A warm flush rose to her cheeks; her own eyes grew soft and tender and wistful.

"They all believe that the war will last two or three years longer," she said huskily. "I cannot go back to my own country till it is all over. They implore me to remain here with them until—until my fortunes are mended." She turned to Mrs. Courtney.

"Yes," she breathed.

They went on without the slightest trace of indecision or embarrassment in her manner. "You see, Mrs. Courtney, I am very, very poor. They have taken everything. I—I fear I shall have to accept this kind, generous proffer of a—her voice shook slightly—"of a home with my friends until the stars are driven out."

Barnes' silence was more eloquent than words. His eyes told Mrs. Courtney expressed the hope that Miss Cameron would condescend to accept the hospitality of her home until plans for the future were definitely fixed was there a sign that the object of her concern had given a thought to what she was saying.

"You are so very kind," stammered the countess. "But I cannot think of imposing upon—"

"Leave it to me, Edie," said Barnes gently, and laying his hand upon his sister's arm, he led her from the room. Then he came swiftly back to the outstretched arms of the exile.

"A very brief New York engagement," he whispered in her ear, he knew not how long afterward. His head was pressed against his shoulder, her eyes were closed, her lips parted in the ecstasy of passion.

"Yes," she breathed, so faintly that he barely heard the strongest word ever put into the language of man. Half an hour later he was speeding down the avenue in a taxi. His blood was singing, his heart was burning with joy—his head was light, for the feel of her was still in his arms, the voice of her in his enraptured ears.

He was hurrying homeward to the "digging" he was soon to desert forever. He was to spend the night at his sister's apartment. When he leaped forth from his "digging" at half past seven, he was attired in evening clothes, and there was not a woman in all New York, young or old, who would have denied him a second glance.

Later on in the evening three of the countess' friends arrived at the Courtney home to pay their respects to their fair compatriot and to discuss the crown jewels. They came and brought with them the consoling information that arrangements were practically completed for the delivery of the jewels into the custody of the French embassy at Washington, through whose intervention they were to be allowed to leave the United States without the formalities usually observed in cases of suspected smuggling. Upon the arrival in America of trusted messengers from Paris, headed by no less a personage than the ambassador himself, the imperial treasure was to pass into hands that would carry it safely to France. Prince Sebastian, still in exile, had been appointed by telegram of the recovery of the jewels, and was expected to sail for England by the earliest steamer.

And while the visitors at the Courtney house were lifting their glasses to toast the prince they loved, and, in turn, the beautiful cousin who had braved so much and fared so luckily, and the tall wayfarer who had come into her life, a small man was stooping over a ruffled napkin in a room far downtown, gazing regarding the result of an unusually hazardous undertaking, even for one who could perform such miracles as he. Scratching his chin, he grinned—for he was the kind who bears disappointment with a grin—and sat himself down at the big library table in the center of the room. Carefully selecting a pen-point he wrote:

"It will be quite obvious to you that I called unexpectedly tonight. The week was up, you see. I took the liberty of leaving under the paperweight at my elbow, a two-dollar bill. It ought to be ample payment for the damage done to your faithful traveling companion. Have the necessary stitches taken in the gash and you will find the kit as good as new. I was more or less certain not to find what I was after, but as I have done no irreparable injury I am sure you will forgive my love of adventure and excitement. It was really quite difficult to get from the fire escape to your window, but it was a delightful experience. Try crawling along that ten-inch ledge yourself some day and see if it isn't productive of a pleasant thrill. I shall not forget your promise to return good for evil some day. God knows I hope I may never be in a position to test your sincerity. We may meet again, and I hope under agreeable circumstances. Kindly pay my deepest respects to the Countess Ted, and believe me to be,

"P. S.—I saw O'Dowd today. He left a message for you and the countess. Tell them, said he that I ask God's blessing for them forever. He off tomorrow for Brazil. He was very much relieved when he heard that I did not get the jewels the first time I went after them, and immensely encouraged by my jolly description of how I went after them the second. By the way, you will be interested to learn that he has out loose from the crowd he was trailing with. Mostly nuts, he says. Dynamitting munition plants in Canada was a grand project, says he, and it would have come to something if the d—d women had only left the d—d men alone. The explosives are O'Dowd's."

Ten hours before Barnes found this illuminating message on his library table he stood at the window of a lofty Park avenue apartment building, his arm about the slender, yielding figure of the only other occupant of the room. Pointing out over the black bonnettop, he directed her attention to the myriad lights in the upper floors of a great hotel to the south and west and said:

"That is where you are going to live, darling."

WHILE IT WAITS PATIENTLY THE REGION PLANS PRUDENTLY

Sits Tight on Restriction Policy and Prepares for the Future.

SIDINGS ARE CLEARED

Of Demurrage Cuts More Completely
Than at Any Time Since the Slump
Began; More Ovens Out; But 14,223 or 33.4 Per Cent, Are in Blast.

While the Connellsville coke region maintains its waiting and watchful attitude, it is not idling its time away. Everybody has agreed with everybody else that the situation must work itself out and any action to hasten the process, other than facilitating the restriction of production to the extreme low point in the curve, will hinder rather than help. Accordingly operation moves along at a reduced rate, more ovens are being blown out and a closer grip is being taken in order that there will be no doubt about the whiplash being securely held. While production keeps at a low mark, and the immediate future is without promise of increased demand, the operators are confident that in due season there will be change for the better. In preparation for an eventual upturning in a period of greater activity, and in order to provide employment for as many men as possible, a systematic plan of repair work is under way at the coking plants. This will continue until everything is in shipshape and the region placed in position to meet almost any demand that may be made upon it.

That adherence to the policy of curtailing production has enabled the region to very closely approach the constantly decreasing demand, has been attested by the almost complete clearance of railroad sidings of cars which, at the time of their loading, were without destinations. As a result the region is more nearly free of demurrage coke than at any time since the slump began. Inasmuch as the plants in operation are only those having contracts, any large consumer of coke who depends upon a spot market is very likely to find himself without a quickly available supply.

The blowing out last week of 210 ovens at the furnace plants and 306 at the merchant plants, or 116 in all, reduces the number of active ovens to 14,223, or 33.4 per cent of the region's entire oven equipment. Not since the fall of 1927 has there been so many idle ovens or plants. The Connellsville district has 42 per cent of its ovens active against 35.6 per cent in the Lower Connellsville district. Of the furnace ovens 24.9 per cent are in blast compared with 47.6 per cent of the merchant ovens. More ovens are being blown out this week among them being 125 at the Mount Haddock plant of W. J. Ralney which will leave but four plants out of eight of this district in operation.

There continues to be rather more interest displayed in steam coal than some weeks ago, but the by-product coal market remains absolutely stagnant. The estimated production of coke for the week ending Saturday, April 14, was 149,325 tons, of which 93,395 tons came from the Connellsville district and 55,930 tons from the Lower Connellsville district. The Connellsville district showed a gain of 1,128 tons, resulting from a number of furnace plants making better time than during the preceding week. The Lower Connellsville district fell behind 2,712 tons, making the net loss of the region 1,584 tons. This is the smallest weekly decrease since January 18.

By interests last week's production was: Furnace, 98,475, an increase of 780 tons; merchant, 49,350, a decrease of 1,590 tons.

The estimated production in net tons of coke for 1933, compared with the corresponding weeks of 1932, is shown in the following tabulation:

Week	Mer.	Fur.	Total
Jan. 1-7	76,224	89,054	165,278
Jan. 8-14	127,248	159,025	286,273
Jan. 15-21	130,810	169,523	299,333
Jan. 22-28	111,920	152,044	263,964
Feb. 3-9	103,774	145,459	249,233
Feb. 10-16	90,580	135,226	225,806
Feb. 17-23	88,138	114,220	202,358
Feb. 24-30	82,490	151,123	233,613
Mar. 1-7	78,346	146,326	224,672
Mar. 8-14	70,221	125,708	195,929
Mar. 15-21	65,582	122,726	188,308
Mar. 22-28	67,426	120,587	188,013
Mar. 29-30	62,260	122,109	184,369
Apr. 1-7	55,200	117,150	172,350
Apr. 8-14	61,726	98,695	160,421
Apr. 15-21	48,425	92,175	140,600

Compared with the corresponding week of 1932 last week's production shows a loss of 188,013 tons, or 56 per cent. For the year to date, the production has been 3,422,910 tons. Compared with the total a year ago, 4,453,975 tons, the present year has developed a shrinkage of 843,013 tons, or 23.1 per cent.

COKE TRADE SUMMARY

The Connellsville coke region, which long ago learned to exercise as well as to believe in the virtue of patience, is watching while it waits, but is not idly doing either. Sitting tight on its production restriction and curtailment policy, it is improving the time in which its plants in shape for the revival in trade which it has the confident faith will come in due season. Agreed as all operators are that the situation will work itself out, no effort is being made to hasten the process other than to facilitate the movement to the extreme low point in the curve. To this end more ovens were blown out last week and still more are being added to the idle list this week.

In consequence of close adherence to the policy adopted at the beginning of production, the region is steadily approached demand, that the sidings of the region have been more completely cleared of demurrage coke than at any time since the slump began. The plants remaining in operation are those having contracts and these are taking care to make no more coke than is called for on regular basis. This condition leaves a rather bare market for consumers, who may be dependent upon spot coke for their supply.

There has been a slight softening in spot prices for such coke as has been available, but otherwise the range for furnace holds to $1.00 to $1.25. Foundry has felt the effect somewhat more sharply, some sales for, indifferent brands having been reported at $1.25, but the producers of standard grades held to the $1.50 basis.

PIG IRON AND STEEL MARKETS STAGNANT; BUYING IS LIMITED

Both Buyers and Sellers Are Waiting,
Each Upon the Other, Without Desire to Carry Matters Along.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trades tomorrow as follows: The Washington Press dispatches have the industrial district's connection with the steel market more seriously than have many in the steel trade, where the effort at steel price deflation and stabilization has been regarded as having gone by the boards. At last Monday's meeting of United States Steel Corporation stockholders Chairman Gary replied, in answer to a question that he understood the industrial Board plan had been abandoned "entirely" but that he hoped he was mistaken.

The pig iron and steel markets are more stagnant than would have been conceivable, except for buying of materials that are currently needed, such as wire products, sheets and tin plates. In wire products there is a very fair run of business, orders being numerous and individually small, with approximately a normal weekly total. In sheets the buying represents nearly 50 per cent of capacity, and in the plate about the same condition obtains. In bars there is some business, while in pipes and tubes there is hardly any. Rails are being delivered to railroads, on old orders, at about 40,000 tons a week, a rate that would exhaust the orders about July 1.

Instead of there being a deadlock between buyers and sellers of pig iron and steel products there is rather a waiting and expectant attitude on both sides. Producers are waiting for inquiries that would make it worth their while to negotiate prices, while buyers are apparently waiting for prices to take the initiative. Neither party is interested in hurrying matters along.

The rapidly increasing activity in road building and dwelling house construction is an adverse influence for the steel industry. These activities involve little steel consumption while they absorb much labor, and labor may possibly become so scarce as to interfere with the consumption of steel in construction operations involving bridges, skyscrapers, power plants and similar projects such as are normally the great lines of steel consumption.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Medina.

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson of Buffalo. One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars. "Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted man who would give up all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment. To sell at this price for 45 cents a box." Read this letter, written February 14, 1931, by Mrs. Albert Southcott of Medina, N. Y. It seems like a miracle, but it is true, every word of it. "I know it because I got similar letters almost every day. 'Is it any wonder I am happy?' Peterson Ointment Co. Inc., Buffalo, N. Y."

Dear Sirs— "I had an ulcer, suffered from an old running sore and ulcer. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars worth of the ointment, my ulcer was healed. I am now 62 inches tall and weigh 150 lbs. Never will I be without Peterson's again. "You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it. Yours truly, Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y. Adv."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur
Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weed's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

THRIFTY PEOPLE SAVE GOLD BOND STAMPS

These Lovely
Silk
Sport Skirts
are Irresistable

THE RICHNESS and charm of the colorings, the soft and supple beauty of the new silk fabrics, and their gracious lines are combined in a wholly delightful and entirely new way. Here are some you simply must see.

The new "MARSHALL POCH" design of navy and gold pussy-willow silk. All Paris is wild about this new design. It is an exact reproduction of the band of gold oak leaves on the "Marshall's" rug, combined with the seven gold stars on a ground of navy blue. This charming fabric is made into a pleated skirt that carries the air and dignity of the "Marshall's" himself. Considering the exclusiveness of design and excellent quality of the silk, this skirt is moderately priced at $35.00.

A skirt of "Moon-Glo" navy blue satin, has a tunic of printed crepe de chine, with deep hem and sash of navy satin. An unusual value at $37.50.

Gold Fan-tai-sai and bisque Georgette are combined with gratifying results. The Georgette is slightly gathered at the waist and extends to almost a knee length, where it is joined by Fan-tai-sai which is slightly tapered to imitate narrowness at the ankle. The belt is of gold fan-tai-sai, and a few narrow bands of the fan-tai-sai are used on the Georgette, over the hips. A most effective model—$35.00.

A rather out of the ordinary skirt is of melon pique with wide girde and two large pockets. A tiny line of black satin piping is used on belt—at the hem—and to characterize the pockets. New of style and low of price at $29.75.

Charming simplicity is obtained in a skirt of snow white crepe de chine, gathered at waist under a crepe de chine girde. Beautiful white hand embroidery adds the finishing touch to this refined style—$22.50.

And endless lot of wool, silk glades or stripes in a variety of bewitching colorings are rich in quality and exclusive styles that defy description. Your sure to find what you want at any price you want to pay.

An Internal Treatment For Piles (Hemorrhoids)

Gives absolute relief from all pain and suffering. Has never failed. Guaranteed.

Many people have become dependent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was no remedy for their case.

Go to your druggist and get an original bottle of Miro Pile Remedy, the discovery of a clever Ohio chemist, that taken internally, posesses changed through the stomach and intestines, and thus reaches the source of the trouble where, by its soothing healing, antiseptic action, it first kills and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days, even in cases that have resisted all previously known treatments, really wonderful results have been accomplished. It is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money returned.

Just read what Mr. E. M. Smith of 2313 Broadway, Lorain, Ohio, says: "I gladly recommend Miro Remedy for Piles. There is no equal to it. I suffered for 15 years and tried everything that was recommended. I doctored for years and was a constant sufferer with bleeding piles. I took two bottles of Miro and was entirely cured. Any sufferer using it will never regret it."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain, to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT: What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. For sale by the Connellsville Drug Co., Connellsville, Pa.
